

Transforming Your EVENT

From gorgeous formal damask linens to sheers and satins, and of course, chair covers, Sitting Pretty/Party Arts offers a vast selection of inventory for any bride on any budget.

"For years, we have helped create just about every kind of celebration—from intimate dinner parties to Galas, even polka-dot themed weddings. There really isn't anything we haven't done," said Jill Burkemper, owner and president of Sitting Pretty/Party Arts.

It all depends on what the bride wants. And, with the experience and expertise of Jill and her staff, the bride's vision is applied to the actual venues in and around St. Louis. The staff at Sitting Pretty/Party Arts is also known for their knowledge and seamless coordination from start to finish when working with area florists, event planners and venues. Whatever the bride's dream, Sitting Pretty/Party Arts can make it a reality!

Jill and her team go above and beyond when it comes to customer service. At each appointment, the bride is offered a consultation, taking into consideration the theme and how best to carry it through the bride's entire wedding.

Sitting Pretty/Party Arts also has a beautiful showroom available so brides can see the exact table display for themselves, instead of having to imagine it.

"It's great because they can see it right then and there," she said.

They'll even go with the bride to her specific venue so the bride can actually see the design in the exact space where she will hold her event before having to make a final decision.

Sitting Pretty/Party Arts may even have the largest local inventory of chair covers and linens in the St. Louis area.

"And everything is sewn in the United States," Jill said, proudly. They also have their own in-house laundry so they can control the quality of their products, as well as provide rentals last minute, if needed.

"We know how special every bride's wedding is," Jill said. "It is a day she will never forget." In fact, Jill knows just how special the bride's day is from personal experience. Her own daughter is getting married June 6, 2009.

In addition to tablecloths, chair covers and sashes, brides can also choose from candelabra, candlesticks, votive candles and charger plates. all at one location.

Another specialty item available through Sitting Pretty/Party Arts is their garden gazebo/chuppah for brides who are interested in exchanging their vows under a beautiful canopy.

And, to add that perfect, exclusive touch to the reception, shower or dinner, what could be better than a formal Versailles chair painted in lustrous gold, which features a scalloped back? But, even more than the classic, elegant look, the chairs are quite similar to the chairs used at White House functions. See for yourself!
